Vox Orbis, LLC, has been providing our global clients with world-class translations since 2010. As a member of the American Translators Association, we are certified to translate and localize technical, business, and legal documents for a diverse array of industries. But rather than simply translating words, we translate the ideas, making sure the unique meaning and message of each document is preserved. Like Vox Orbis founder Andres Asbun—a Civil Engineering and Economics graduate of Santa Clara University with 10+ years of translation experience and fluency in English, Spanish, and French—our talented team brings a variety of language skills, cultural insights, and industry knowledge to the translating table.

With well-known internationally reaching companies such as Citrix Online and Thermoteknix already on our client roster, Vox Orbis is quickly becoming a recognized leader in translation services.

Vox Orbis has clients from around the globe representing many different business sectors. We translate material for industries such as:

- |                                 |                      |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|
| Accommodation and Food Services | Insurance            |
| Advertising                     | Legal Services       |
| Arts and Entertainment          | Manufacturing        |
| B2B Marketing                   | Medicine             |
| Computer Systems                | Mining               |
| Data Processing                 | Public Relations     |
| Education                       | Real Estate          |
| Engineering                     | Scientific R&D       |
| Finance                         | Software Development |
| Government and Legislation      | Telecommunications   |
|                                 | Travel and Tourism   |

If you have academic or professional experience in a particular field, let us know—we value your insights and expertise.

What it takes to be a Vox Orbis . . .

translator

Translators should be fluent in English and at least one other language, with the ability to translate the core ideas in a document rather than words alone. They should also be computer savvy with proficiency in basic software applications.

project manager

Project managers must be able to see both the big picture and the important details at the same time, scheduling and reviewing many different assignments at once. They should be conscious of both deadlines and budgets and have strong interpersonal skills.

localization manager

Localization managers must be adept at preserving the underlying message and purpose of the content as it is translated for international markets. They should have an excellent understanding of and sensitivity to country-specific standards, customs, and culture.

New Technologies, New Opportunities
